General Remarks

It must be noted that administrative adjudication, or the authority to hear and decide cases pursuant to the laws implemented by an administrative agency, DOES NOT involve approval of applications for any privilege, right, reward, license, clearance, permit or authorization, concession, or for any modification, renewal or extension of the enumerated applications or requests. As such, administrative adjudication DOES NOT fall within the ambit of Section 3 of RA No. 11032 because it is not the “Government Service” contemplated in Section 4 thereof and is therefore, not subject to the prescribed processing times for Government Services under Section 9 of the same Act. We note that Section 9 of RA No. 11032 is entitled “Accessing Government Services”, which clearly applies to “Government Service” as defined in Section 4 thereof (i.e. applications for any privilege, right, reward, license, clearance, etc.).

General Remarks

Section 134 of the Revised Corporation Code requires a fifteen (15)-day waiting period before the issuance of the Certificate of Dissolution to allow the corporation time to withdraw its application. Pertinent provision of the section reads as follows:

"Within fifteen (15) days from receipt of the verified request for dissolution, and in the absence of any withdrawal within said period, the Commission shall approved the request and issue the certificate of dissolution. The dissolution shall take effect only upon the issuance by the Commission of certificate of dissolution."

This justifies the release of the Certificate of Dissolution beyond the 20-day processing period required by the EODB Law.

General Remarks

It must be noted that administrative adjudication, or the authority to hear and decide cases pursuant to the laws implemented by an administrative agency, DOES NOT involve approval of applications for any privilege, right, reward, license, clearance, permit or authorization, concession, or for any modification, renewal or extension of the enumerated applications or requests. As such, administrative adjudication DOES NOT fall within the ambit of Section 3 of RA No. 11032 because it is not the “Government Service” contemplated in Section 4 thereof and is therefore, not subject to the prescribed processing times for Government Services under Section 9 of the same Act. We note that Section 9 of RA No. 11032 is entitled “Accessing Government Services”, which clearly applies to “Government Service” as defined in Section 4 thereof (i.e. applications for any privilege, right, reward, license, clearance, etc
